

About gomembers

Serving the associations and membership community exclusively for over 30 years, gomembers has extensive experience implementing software solutions for the most prominent and successful member-based organizations, including professional societies, labor/union organizations, publication providers, trade groups, fundraising organizations, medical societies, state bar organizations, cultural institutions, association management companies, donor based organizations and more.

gomembers' Q software and technology solutions, developed in the Microsoft .Net Framework, help its customers automate a number of enterprise planning, member relationship management, transaction processing and member-to-member communications functions in a single platform with seamless inter-processing of data across all applications. Our solutions improve operating efficiency, enhance services offered to members and enable interaction with and between members.

gomembers enhances association e-commerce by providing leading-edge internet technology to create world-class vertical internet portal sites, empowering web users by giving them the tools to manage their information and conduct business electronically. These tools, applications and services can be used individually or collectively to provide a robust on-line experience for constituents and members. Web transactions are immediately written to the database so there is never any data entry duplication. The Q Development Toolkit allows your organization to configure Q to achieve maximum staff productivity. Through the Q-Upgrade Automation process you are assured of having the latest in association management software as gomembers provides updates and enhancements to Q. Finally, Q is seamlessly integrated with Microsoft Dynamics GP for financial management and with Microsoft SQL Server Reporting Services for reporting and analysis. This degree of integration and immediate feedback improves the customer's experience on your Web site and reduces the organization's workload!

Whether your organization requires a specific single solution to address membership/meeting management or requires an enterprise solution that brings together customer relations management with the transactional modules specific for your organization's needs (membership, meetings/events, committee management, subscriptions, fundraising and more), gomembers has the best product designed to fit those needs. Our staff of over 75 employees with expertise in association management, accounting, training, programming, and project management is here to provide you world-class solutions second to none.

For more information, call toll-free 888.288.4364 or email sales@gomembers.com.